The Master's Program for Visual Impairment

Training Teachers
Helping students...........

The University of Alabama at Birmingham, School of Education, Department of Leadership, Special Education and Foundations and The Alabama State Department of Education, Special Education Services are seeking professionals who want to become a Special Educator in the area of Visual Impairment.

Consider the UAB Graduate Program in Visual Impairment. Attend summer and weekend classes and complete your degree while teaching.

- The only program for VI in Alabama
- Clinical observations in public and residential settings
- Sign language, assistive technology, communication device training, and orientation and mobility
- Observations of hearing & vision examinations
- Assessment camp for low incidence students
- Course emphasis in deafblindness
- Housing assistance

For additional information
1-866-975-0642
www.pathfindersofal.org
callison@uab.edu